FOREWORD

AS THE YEARS go by, and memory grows dim, the recollection of college days becomes faint. This chronicle of college memories, permeated with the stirring spirit of West Virginia, will always be a source of remembrance,—a remembrance of the most hopeful and happy days of our lives.

May you always value it as a treasure of undying college memories, and may you never lose the touch of that true Mountaineer spirit, engendered by a faith in the future of our State, and West Virginia University.

Dedication

"To pity distress is but human,
To relieve it is godlike."

—Horace Mann.

THIS volume of the Monticola is dedicated to a man who is one of the State's most distinguished citizens, Otto Schenk. Not only does his life demonstrate that honesty, unremitting toil, and a will to succeed are prerequisites of success, but through his wide-spread philanthropy and promotion of idealism he has established himself as one of the state's most valuable citizens.

He is a native of West Virginia, educated in the university of hard work. His life is a record of inestimable service to the state. He is officer or director in five banks, chairman of many civic organizations, and president of the Associated Charities.

A successful business career is but an incident in his eventful life. His ambition has been to make this state a happier place to live in. By numerous charitable contributions, and by a sincere devotion to educational institutions, he has become an inspiration to those who would benefit their fellowmen.

He has assisted hundreds of young men in their efforts to secure an education, and when they have finished and taken up their life work, he feels fully repaid.

He has taken an active interest in the Y. M. C. A., and in the Y. W. C. A., and in all Christian organizations working for a worthy cause.

In recognition of a great service to our state, educational institutions, and humanity in general, we dedicate this volume of the Monticola to successful business man, philanthropist, idealist, promoter of education.

DR. JOHN ROSCOE TURNER

A NEW milestone of educational progress was firmly imbedded in state soil when Dr. John Roscoe Turner was formally inaugurated the tenth president of West Virginia University on November 29, 1928 to succeed Dr. Frank Butler Trotter.

The impressive ceremonies took place in the spacious new Men's Field House, before a brilliant concourse of several thousand persons, including representatives of more than fifty universities and colleges, state dignitaries, faculty members, leading citizens, alumnae, and students.

The program which preceded the formal inauguration was so well arranged and conducted as to produce fervored approbation. The march of the undergrauates initiated the programmed events of the day. Then the colorful academic procession slowly wended its way from Martin Hall to the Field House with impressive step.

The presiding chairman, Judge Edward G. Smith took charge of the assemblage in the Field House shortly after 2:30 o'clock. After invocation by Dr. Robert Armstrong, a delightful and inspiring musical program offered entertainment to the vast audience. Judge Smith then formally inducted Dr. Turner into office, and the new president delivered his inaugural address. Dr. Turner embraced the desire for immediate progress for West Virginia University in setting forth his elaborate educational program. After congratulatory remarks by Governor Howard M. Gore and Edward S. Parsons, President of Marietta College, Dr. Armstrong pronounced benediction, and the exercises closed with a short musical program by the Cadet Band.

The Mountaineer

ALBERT H. GLENN

Selected by the Student Body of West Virginia University as the Mountaineer, traditionally the man who has been the ideal representative student during his four years enrollment in this institution. Albert (Big Sleepy)—during his enrollment participated in the following athletics: Football, '25, '26, '27, '28, winning four letters; Basketball, '26, '27, winning two letters; Track, '26, '27, '28, winning three letters. He also was president of the Junior Class, and belonged to the following organizations: Sigma Phi Epsilon, Intra-Fraternity Council '26-'27, Fi Bater Cappar, Mountain, Varsity Club, and Torch and Serpent. During the '29 Intramural Wrestling Tournament, he was also University champion in the 165 pound class.

Mountaineer Week

On March 27 began the third annual Mountaineer Week, in which seventeen of the leading high schools of the state were visited by nine student men. The aim of this visit was to create a better understanding of the University among high school students and to acquaint the people of the state with problems of the University and its future.

Led by George Jackson, captain of the teams, the following men visited the following schools in the order named: George Jackson, Clarence Keefer, and John Zevely went to Parkersburg, Williamson, Williamstown, and Logan high schools; J. Brooks Lawson, E. Gaujot Bias, and Kendall Keeney visited Fairmont and East Side high schools, Washington-Irving, Wilson-Roosevelt, and Victory high schools at Clarksburg, and Belington and Elkins high schools; Paul Holland, Charles Littlepage, and John Phillips visited Wheeling, Triadelphia, Warwood, Wellsburg, Follansbee, and New Cumberland. William T. Fahey was publicity manager.

The men selected to represent the University were selected on the basis of scholarship and active participation in campus activities that bring them into close contact with all phases of University life.

It may be interesting to note that the Mountaineer Week this year was sponsored entirely by the student body. This however, brought about a shortage in finances and as a result the number of days of visiting was cut down from five to two. The number of high schools visited this year was cut down from seventy to fifteen.

Davis-Elkins 7—West Virginia 0

An unheralded and incidentally an almost unheard of football team, came up from the mountains around Elkins and pulled the big surprise. West Virginia's set up game on the opening of the 1928 season was turned into a sad defeat. The "Hurricane" pointed for this game and as a result their season was termed a success as soon as the final whistle blew.

West Virginia opened the offensive and an exchange of punts resulted in the opening plays. D. & E. passed within its own territory, and Warren, "Hurricane" left halfback, took the pass for a gain of 41 yards, to the Mountaineer 17 yard line. Another pass and the ball was on the 7 yard line, where Rengle carried it over for the touchdown on the fourth play. Smith kicked the goal to make the score D. & E. 7, West Virginia 0.

At the beginning of the second half West Virginia showed some real offensive playing. Hagberg intercepted a pass in mid-field, and upon gaining possession of the ball West Virginia opened up its aerial attack. A Stumpp-thrown pass to Garrett put the Mountaineers on the D. & E. 17 yard line. The "Hurricane's" forwards held and at attempted pass was intercepted on the 5 yard line halting West Virginia's march to a touchdown. The last quarter found the Mountaineers in a desperate drive trying to tie the score. Keefer's line plunging and mixed with a good passing game again took the ball into the D. & E. territory, but just as it seemed that West Virginia was about to score, Rengle, one of the D. & E. backs intercepted a beautiful pass that looked like a sure touchdown. The game ended on the next play with the score still Davis Elkins 7, West Virginia 0.

West Virginia Wesleyan 0—West Virginia 12

Still smarting from the D. & E. drubbing of the week before, the Mountaineers came to their own to crush the Wesleyan "Bob Cats" 12-0. West Virginia took the field with the determination of winning and as a result outplayed the Methodists throughout the entire game.

Early in the first period McClung fumbled A. Glenn's punt and Carrico recovered the ball on the Wesleyan 12 yard line. Captain Keefer carried it over for a touchdown on his second attempt through the line. Stumpp failed to kick the goal, making the score West Virginia 6, Wesleyan 0. The Mountaineers kept the ball in the visitors' territory consistently and threatened to score several times, but fumbles lost the ball for them at inopportune times.

In the last quarter Stumpp made a quick kick which put Wesleyan back to its own 9 yard yard line. Failing to gain through the line they attempted to pass within their own territory in a last effort to score. Keefer intercepted a pass from Rodriguez on the Wesleyan 24 yard line. A pass from Stumpp to Vacheresse put the ball on the 8 yard line, and on two plunges at the line Keefer again scored. Stumpp failed to kick the goal. The game ended shortly after the next kick off with Wesleyan throwing passes high and wide in an attempt to score.

Haskell Indians 7—West Virginia 28

West Virginia won its second consecutive game in the public school stadium at Wheeling by defeating the Haskell Indians from Lawrence, Kansas. The Varsity line dominated the game, thus enabling Captain Keefer to score three touchdowns with his line plunging.

On the first play of the game Keefer cracked the center of the line for 16 yards. A march from the West Virginia 38 yard line resulted in the first touchdown. M. Glenn missed the goal. As the quarter ended the Indians were threatening, having the ball on the West Virginia 28 yard line. But A. Glenn broke through and threw Weller for a loss, and the Mountaineers took the ball on downs.

During the exchange of punts Lang recovered a fumble giving West Virginia the ball on the Haskell 40 yard line. Two passes, and three line plunges by Keefer, gave the Mountaineers their second touchdown. The extra point was made, making the score West Virginia 13, Haskell 0. By virtue of passes the Indians carried the ball to the West Virginia 7 yard line, where the Mountaineer linemen held as the half ended.

Stumpp's quick kick put the ball back to the Haskell goal line during the third quarter. Scott blocked the attempted punt and the ball rolled out of the end zone giving West Virginia a safety. West Virginia scored its third touchdown during this period making its gains principally through the line, with Keefer adding most of the yards, and also the touchdown. The final West Virginia touchdown came during the last period as a result of a long pass from Varney to Garrett who sprinted 55 yards for the touchdown. The game ended with the Indians scoring their touchdown by four long passes, after Ryan had fumbled in mid-field.

University of Pittsburgh 6—West Virginia 9

The traditional fighting spirit of the West Virginians brought them one of the most glorious vicories in the history of this institution. Coach Jock Suherland's "practice" game resulted in the first defeat the Panthers have tasted in their stadium. Although an upset in the eyes of the Eastern football critics, every loyal West Virginia fan went up to Pittsburgh with the determination to "Beat Pitt," and we did, and how!

The first quarter had the ball traveling from one end of the field to the other. Several times Pitt threatened, but only to be held for downs when it got within the West Virginia 20 yard line.

Pitt, during the second quarter, got its only score after a long march down the field, in which Parkinson continually battered the West Virginia line. Then Uansa slipped off tackle for the Panther touchdown. But the infuriated Mountaineer linemen swarmed through on the try for a placement goal, and "Little Sleepy" Glenn blocked the kick.

The excellent physical condition of the West Virginia team began to show up as the second half began, and by the beginning of the last quarter the Pitt team was completely demoralized. About the middle of the third quarter, Bartrug leaped high into the air to intercept another Panther pass, and he carried the ball to the Pitt 4 yard line before being downed. Keefer hit the line for two yards in two tries, and then the Pitt defense drawn up for another line play, Stumpp tossed a pass to Lang over the goal line for the touchdown. "Little Sleepy" Glenn kicked the goal with Stumpp holding the ball, making the score West Virginia 7, Pitt 6.

With their backs against their own goal line, the Panthers were trying desperately to kick out of danger, but the Moutaineer forwards were hitting the line so hard that the Pitt center made a bad pass to Rooney who ran out of the end zone to get the ball, registering an automatic safety for West Virginia. Score West Virginia 9, Pitt 6.

Washington and Lee 0—West Virginia 22

The Mountaineers traveled to Charleston for the annual battle with Washington and Lee, and reduced their ranking from Generals to privates. West Virginia continued its brilliant defense giving W. & L. only three first downs during the whole game. The Mountaineers' running attack seemed to have improved with the interference functioning in an effective manner on the end runs.

West Virginia did not score during the first quarter but in the second period got down to business. After a march of 54 yards during which Keefer, Bartrug and Stumpp all carried the ball for large gains, the first touchdown was made. The kick was unsuccessful. The second touchdown of the period was the result of a pass to Bartrug from Stumpp. M. Glenn kicked goal to make the score 13-0.

In the third quarter Bartrug slipped around end for the third touchdown, M. Glenn again kicking goal. The end of this period found the Mountaineers again pushing for another touchdown, the ball being on the 20 yard line as the quarter ended. Several line plays brought the ball to the one yard line where the Generals took the ball on downs. Stumpp was seriously hurt on the play. The Mountaineers automatically scored a safety in the last period when Thibodeau stepped out of bounds in the end zone while punting. Score at end of game W. V. U. 22, W. & L. 0.

Lafayette 0—West Virginia 17

For the second time within two weeks the Mountaineers upset the Eastern football dope, defeating the Lafayette Leopards at Easton, Pa. 17 to 0. Rated the under-dog, the fighting West Virginians went up against a team that had not tasted defeat, nor been scored upon in its first five games this season. The Mountaineers displayed more aggressiveness in this game than it had in any game so far.

Early in the second quarter West Virginia turned a fumble into a touchdown. Bartrug had punted and on the second play Brewster recovered a Lafayette fumble. A pass, Ryan to Vacheresse was good for 28 yards and a first down, putting the ball on the Maroon 4 yard line. Ryan hit tackle twice, carrying the ball over the goal on the second attempt for the first touchdown of the game. M. Glenn kicked the goal making the score W. Va. 7, Lafayette 0.

On the first play after the kickoff at the beginning of the second half, Lafayette again fumbled and Joseph recovered for West Virginia on the Lafayette 19 yard line. Ryan and Keefer made 7 yards through the line in three trys. With Ryan holding the ball, M. Glenn kicked a field goal from placement from the Maroon 18 yard line, making the score W. Va. 10; Lafayette 0.

West Virginia gained its second touchdown near the end of the last quarter. Lafayette was staging a last attempt to score by passing, when Bartrug intercepted one of Purcell's passes and raced down the field 60 yards for a touchdown. The lanky sophomore back gave a beautiful exhibition of broken-field running, eluding seven Maroon tacklers. M. Glenn kicked the extra point, score, W. Va. 17; Lafayette 0.

Fordham 0—West Virginia 18

Little concerned with whether "Al" Smith was going to defeat Hoover or not, the Mountaineers traveled to the Yankee Stadium in New York City on Election Day, for their fifth consecutive game away from home. The West Virginians showed the "Fighting Irish" that there was another fighting team in the country.

On the first two plays after the opening kickoff, Captain Keefer made a first down, but West Virginia kicked on the next play to the Fordham goal line. A Fordham back touched the ball but failed to keep it and Vacheresse knocked it over the goal line, where Lewis fell on it for touchdown for the Mountaineers. M. Glenn missed the goal, leaving the score W. Va. 6; Fordham 0.

As the first half was coming to a close, Dellaire of Fordham, tried to pass from behind his own goal line when his kick formation had been broken up. Lang intercepted the pass on the Fordham 10 yard line. On a reverse play, Ryan carried the ball to the extreme right side of the field and over the goal for West Virginia's second touchdown. Score W. Va. 12; Fordham 0.

Early in the third quarter Keefer intercepted another Fordham pass on the Fordham 40 yard line. Bartrug passed to "Little Sleepy" Glenn who carried the ball to the 10 yard line before being downed. Ryan on another end run took the ball over the goal for the last touchdown of the game. M. Glenn missed the goal, making the final score W. Va. 18; Fordham 0.

Oklahoma 6—West Virginia 32

Despite the bad weather a fairly large crowd turned out for the "West Virginia Day" game and saw the Varsity smother the Oklahoma "Aggies" 32 to 6. The Mountaineers continued their aggresiveness and completely outplayed the "Cowboys" throughout the game.

West Virginia kicked off to Oklahoma, who soon punted back after three tries at the line failed. Larue and Keefer gave the Mountaineers a first down. On the next play Keefer broke loose off left tackle and raced 70 yards for the first touchdown of the game. The kick for the extra point was missed. Score W. Va. 6; Oklahoma 0.

Near the end of the first quarter, Larue and Bartrug carried the ball to the Oklahoma 9 yard line. Keefer again carried the ball over on his second attempt at center. M. Glenn kicked the goal, making the score at the end of the first quarter, W. Va. 13; Oklahoma 0.

Early in the second quarter Larue returned one of the "Aggies" punts 50 yards. A pass and a long run by A. Glenn put the ball on the Oklahoma 16 yard line. Varney passed to Joseph for a touchdown, and M. Glenn missed the goal, score, W. Va. 19; Oklahoma 0.

The second half started off with all the first team back in the lineup. Keefer made a first down, and then Bartrug passed to Ryan for another touchdown. M. Glenn kicked the goal making the score W. Va. 26; Oklahoma 6. Oklahoma scored its lone touchdown in the second period against the second team. The touchdown came by virtue of a blocked punt.

The Mountaineers continued a march started late in the third quarter. Keefer, A. Glenn and Bartrug carried the blunt of the attack. Captain Keefer finally carried the ball over for the last touchdown and final score of the game. W. Va. 32; Oklahoma 6.

Georgetown 12—West Virginia 0

Georgetown University brought the Mountaineers' long winning streak of seven games to a close at the Griffith Stadium in Washington, D. C.

The first minutes of the game saw an exchange of punts, which the Mountaineers took advantage of and gained the ball on the Georgetown 24 yard line. The hilltoppers tightened and M. Glenn tried an unsuccessful field goal.

Another march brought the ball up to the 30 yard line but Larue fumbled and ended the threat. As the half ended "Big Sleepy" Glenn received a pass for 20 yards and took it to the goal line where he was forced out of bounds. It was only a matter of inches between Glenn and a touchdown, and it seemed as though he thought he was over the goal line.

Shortly after the opening kickoff of the second half Dulpin got loose for a forty yard run. Two passes put the ball on the Mountaineers' 13 yard line, and from there Georgetown took the ball over on straight line plunges. The kick for goal was blocked, leaving the score Georgetown 6; West Virginia 0.

Bartrug received the kickoff and raced 60 yards with it before he was downed. Attempts at the line again failed and a pass failed giving the ball to the "Irish." The Mountaineers continued to fight and Bartrug placed another punt out of bounds on the Georgetown 3 yard line. The Hilltoppers lined up to kick from behind their own goal line, but Bozek took the ball and raced to the West Virginia 43 yard line. A first down and a 15 yard penalty put the ball on the Mountaineer 18 yard line. Four line plays were all that was needed to give Georgetown its second touchdown. The goal failed. Score, Georgetown 12; West Virginia 0.

Washington and Jefferson 0—West Virginia 14

West Virginia ended one of its most successful seasons on Thanksgiving Day with a 14 to 0 victory over its ancient rival Washington & Jefferson. After a somewhat disappointing season the Presidents came to Morgantown determined to upset the dope and beat the Mountaineers. But West Virginia was just as determined, and as a result turned the neighbors back without a score. It was a fitting climax to top off the Mountaineer schedule.

The Mountaineers drew blood four minutes after the opening whistle. W. & J. tried a pass on the first play after the kick-off, which Ryan intercepted at midfield and returned to the 40 yard line. Keefer made a first down on two plunges through the line. Keefer made another gain and then Bartrug carried the ball over on an end run. M. Glenn's kick was good, making the score W. Va. 7; W. & J. 0.

Late in the second period W. & J. was forced to punt from its own goal line, and Ryan returned the kick from the 40 yard line to the 30 yard line. A pass to Lang put the ball on the Wash. & Jeff. 13 yard line. After two unsuccessful line plays Bartrug passed to Ryan for West Virginia's second and last touchdown of the game. M. Glenn again kicked the goal, making the final score West Virginia 14; Washington & Jefferson 0.

Summary of 1928 Freshman Football Season

West Virginia University's 1928 Plebe gridiron squad was one of the most promising first year combinations ever to wear the colors of gold and blue. Several outstanding performers who should prove very valuable in Varsity ranks in future years were included in the roster. In Marker, Haddock, Doyle, Martin, Waggoner, Bill Smith, Latham, and Lewis, Coach Homer Martin had an excellent nucleus around which to build a first class Mountaineer team.

Basketball 1929

On the night of January 3rd, 1929, the West Virginia University basketball team opened its 1929 season against the Salem College Tigers. This game inaugurated the New Field House and 2,500 fans witnessed the game. With Lepera, the flashy Mountaineer forward, featuring the game the West Virginia team started the season with a victory, defeating the fast Salem five by the score of 26 to 23. Captain Black, and Taylor were on the sick list and did not play in the opening game.

The next game found the Mountaineers defeating Carnegie Tech, by the score of 54 to 19. Before a crowd of 3,000 the first "Big Four" opponent furnished little excitement. Coach Stadsvold's crew showed some fine team work, and passed the ball in rings around the famous Plaid. Captain Black and Taylor were both back in the lineup, but neither started but saw action in both periods. "Little Sleepy" Glenn was high scorer for the evening with 15 points. "Swede" Hagberg contributed 10 points. "Eddie" Stumpp hurt his trick knee and had to be carried from the floor.

Ross' West Virginia Wesleyan basketball team found the going rather rough in choosing the Mountaineers to open their 1929 season. The Varsity traveled to Buckhannon and defeated the "Bobcats" 37-18. However the score at the end of the first half was 19 to 8, but in the last half the Mountaineers gradually drew away with a big lead. "Little Sleepy" Glenn was high point man for the evening with 14 points.

The next game found the Mountaineers disposing of an old foe, Grove City, with comparative ease. When the final whistle blew West Virginia was on the long end of a 47 to 25 score. Taylor scored 16 points while "Little Sleepy" Glenn gathered 12 for himself. Plaster, the sophomore guard, proved to be a constant obstacle to the Grove City offense. The large lead of the varsity gave Coach Stadsvold a chance to use all his substitutes.

The Mountaineers had little trouble in disposing of the "Big Green" from Marshall. The score was 44 to 21. This was the fifth consecutive victory for the West Virginians, in spite of somewhat ragged teamwork in the opening period. Again "Little Sleepy" Glenn led the team in scoring, getting 20 points from 9 baskets and two fouls.

On Friday evening, January 18, the Mountaineers traveled to Pittsburgh and defeated the Pitt Panther by the score of 40 to 35. The game was anybody's from beginning to end for the score was tied no less than ten times throughout the contest. Coach Stadsvold's tossers, though rated as the under-dog, as usual in Pittsburgh, played hard, clean basketball throughout the game and with a strong finish were able to pile up a five point lead as the game ended. The whole team deserves much credit for this victory, but as usual the scoring honors go to M. Glenn. He scored 17 points, just one point less than the famous Hyatt of Pitt. However the West Virginia ace outscored his rival from the field, getting 8 field goals to Hyatt's 7.

To begin the second semester right, the University basketball team defeated Cam Henderson's "Scarlet Hurricane" 44 to 30. The game was fast throughout, but both teams had an "off" night at the basket. Glenn and Hagberg were the high scorers for the Mountaineers, getting 15 and 13 respectively. Plaster was again the big man in the defense, netting a basket for himself also. The Elkins team was built around this man and though he failed them in the first half, he came back and played the whole second half, getting 10 of his team's total points.

Geneva College has the honor of being the first team to defeat the Mountaineers in their new Field House. Geneva brought a big team to Morgantown and as the second half drew near to a close they piled up a big lead to make the final score 42 to 24. Incidentally both teams had a winning streak of seven games when they went on the floor. In spite of the absence of Hagberg, the West Virginians carried on through the first half leading at the end of this period by the score of 18 to 16. But soon after the beginning of the second period the height of the visitors began to tell the story, and they gradually pulled away from the Mountaineers. The West Virginians sorely missed their big center and their play was ragged throughout the contest. Much credit is due the Geneva team however for they were "on" and carried the ball down the court at will.

In the final home game before their long road trip, the Mountaineers triumphed over West Virginia Wesleyan 50 to 26. The game was rather listless throughout, and even though they won by a large score, the Mountaineers were still off form. Bartrug, starting his second game in place of Hagberg who has been on the injured list, was high scorer for the evening and showed considerable form. He had 14 points, while Lepera contributed 11 and Glenn 9. Plaster continued his good work at guard.

RADCLIFFE

In the first game of their long road trip, the Mountaineers met with their second defeat of the season. The annual game with Washington and Lee was again played at the Vanity Fair hall in Huntington, and when the final whistle ended the game W. and L. was on the long end of the 42 to 37 score. The first half was anybody's game, the score at the end of this period being 19 to 18 in favor of the Virginians. The second half found the "Generals" gradually gaining, ending the game with a five point lead over the Mountaineers. Taylor scored 11 points for West Virginia.

The following Monday found the Mountaineers taking a one-sided game from V. P. I. at Bluefield. Getting back to the old form, West Virginia played real basketball throughout, and as a result of the big lead Coach Stadsvold was able to use his entire squad of 10 men, thus giving the regulars somewhat of a rest. Glenn, Hagberg and Taylor were all tied for high point honors, each contributing 11 points.

Tuesday found the Mountaineers in Charlottesville, Va. Here they met and defeated the University of Virginia 45 to 36. Virginia had the lead throughout the first half and part of the second half. The West Virginians however staged a last minute rally to overcome the lead. Black had 10 points, while Lepera and Hagberg each scored 9.

On the following night West Virginia defeated the Army at West Point, in an extra period game, 39 to 34. This was the big game on the West Virginia schedule and the Mountaineers played brilliantly to win it. The score at half time was 17-17. At the end of the regular playing period it was 31-31. Glenn was back to form and scored 17 points, while Taylor had 10.

PLASTER

West Virginia lost the second game of its trip to Temple at Philadelphia, 40 to 29. The game was played on a small court and was rough throughout. The score at the half was 18 to 16 in favor of Temple, but the Mountaineers couldn't seem to function properly in the second half. Taylor scored 9 points, while Glenn had 8.

Georgetown was the next victim of the Mountaineers in the final game of the long road trip. Georgetown rallied in the last half to make the final score 49 to 44 after trailing by nine points at the half. Glenn and Taylor were both "on" and scored 18 and 16 points respectively.

Allegheny, who the night before had trimmed Geneva, fell before the Mountaineers in their first home game after the road trip. The game was fast throughout, and though the West Virginians had the lead continually the final score only gave the Mountaineers a nine point advantage, 38 to 29. The Varsity seemed to function smoothly after their tiresome road trip. Glenn scored 15 points and Taylor contributed 10. Dennison scored 16 points for the losers.

West Virginia traveled to Pittsburgh to play its return game with Carnegie Tech, defeating them by the score of 46 to 31. The Mountaineers only had a 6 point lead at the half, but the last period found them easily drawing away from the Plaid. Glenn had the best night he has had this season, scoring 10 field goals and 2 out of 2 fouls, for a total of 22 points.

On the following night the Mountaineers defeated Grove City, at Grove City, Penna., by the score of 44 to 35. West Virginia put up a brilliant game against the Grovers and the outcome was never in doubt. Taylor had 14 points and Glenn scored 12.

The W. & J. Presidents proved a strong foe at Washington, Pa. and West Virginia was extended to win from them, 33 to 21. A second half rally pulled the game out of doubt, after the Presidents held the Mountaineers to a one point lead at the half. Glenn contributed four field goals and a couple of fouls for a total of 10 points for the evening.

A record breaking crowd saw Pitt beat the Mountaineers, 41 to 19 in the big home game of the West Virginia schedule. This was a complete upset, especially by such a decisive score, for the Mountaineers had defeated Pitt in Pittsburgh earlier in the season. Both Hyatt and Glenn were off form, the former only securing 9 points, while the Mountaineer star contributed 4.

West Virginia continued its slump at Elkins, losing to the "Scarlet Hurricane" 49 to 43. The game was rough throughout and as a result three D. & E. men and four Mountaineers were eliminated from the game on personal fouls. Peters, the big Indian center for D. & E. starred for the victors. Glenn had a good night contributing 15 points to the West Virginia score.

The last game of the season was lost to the W. & J. Presidents by the score of 46 to 25. The Mountaineers seemed to be "off" more in this game than in any other throughout the season. Though it was rather disappointing to the West Virginia fans to see the Mountaineers lose to such a poor team, it undoubtedly showed the strains of the long season and hard road trip upon the physical condition of the West Virginia team. Glenn was again high scorer for the evening contributing 13 points or over half of the Mountaineers total score. Robinson of W. & J. had nine field goals to his credit and three out of three fouls for a total of 21 points.

Wrestling 1929

FOR the opening match of the 1929 wrestling season, the Mountaineer matmen had little trouble in defeating Waynesburg College. The Varsity registered five falls and two time decisions against one fall for the visitors, making the score 31 to 5. Cooper, Captain Cox, Brill, Higgins and Nixon scored falls over their opponents, while Ruble and Meyers each won their match on large time advantages. Cole, returning to the mat after two years idleness, failed to show his old form and was thrown by Captain Ford of Waynesburg for the visitors' only points.

The University of Michigan gave Harrick's men some little trouble in the second match of the season. The match was one of the closest ever seen here, the final bout deciding the match. Cooper gained a fall in the first bout, and Captain Cox after an extra period gained a decision over Hewett, a National Champion. Brill won his bout with a large time advantage, but Meyers, Higgins, Harrick and Brewster all lost on time advantages. Thus with Michigan in the lead 12 to 11, Nixon went into the unlimited bout with the determination to win the deciding match. In the last three minutes of the bout Nixon got the body scissors on his opponent and won the contest with a time advantage. This final victory for the Mountaineers make the final score 14 to 12.

The West Virginia wrestlers hung up their third consecutive victory at the expense of Ohio State. The Buckeye match proved to be another thriller similar to the Michigan match. Cooper and Cox both had close calls in the final minutes of their bouts, but each had gained time advantage before this. Brill also gained a time decision over his opponent, to give the Mountaineers a 9 to 0 lead for the first three bouts. Meyers lost his bout by a time advantage, but "Bill" Harrick pulled the surprise of the evening in gaining a quick fall over Hudak who was supposed to be the Buckeye's best bet. Higgins then lost on a time decision, but Brewster gained back these three points by a time advantage over his opponent. Nixon lost his bout by a time decision, making the final count West Virginia 17; Ohio State 11.

Between semesters the University wrestling team journeyed to Stillwater, Okla. to meet the Oklahoma Aggies, National Collegiate Champions. As the result of such opposition Coach Harrick's matmen met their first defeat of the season. Captain Cox gained himself some national recognition in winning his bout by a fall, incidentally scoring all of the Mountaineers' points. Cooper, Brill, Meyers, Higgins and Harrick all lost on time decisions, while the Nixon brothers were both thrown, making the final score Oklahoma 25; West Virginia 5.

West Virginia wrestlers took their second successive defeat at the hands of last year's Big Ten Champions, Illinois, by the score of 24 to 8. The first bout of the evening was a surprise in that Cooper lost on a time decision. Captain Cox however continued to keep his slate clean, and won his bout with a large time advantage. Brill also lost by a fall. The Mountaineer veteran hurt himself during the tussle and was in a bad way after that. Johnson, Cole and Higgins all lost their bouts on time decisions, and Levine was thrown in the 175 pound class. Ted Nixon, however, ended the match with some excitement in winning the final bout by a fall.

The West Virginia grapplers finished their season by losing to the Navy. The future admirals defeated the Mountaineers 17 to 8 before the largest crowd to ever attend a wrestling match at the University. The first bout was a surprise to local fans in that Cooper lost by a fall to the Navy captain, Ashford. Captain Cox came right back in the next bout to tie the score by throwing his opponent. Brill, Meyers, Harrick and T. Nixon all lost their matches on time decisions. G. Nixon gave West Virginia three more points by a time advantage over his man in the last bout of the evening. The West Virginia team finished its season with three victories and three defeats. The feature of the evening was that Captain Cox completed his last year with a clean slate.

Review of 1928 Track Season

"One of the most successful" has been the rating given the season of 1928 in West Virginia University track activities. The Varsity record of two victories in three dual meets, in which events it amassed a total of 267½ points to the opposition's 137½, and the annexation of the "Big Four" title, as well as the winning of the medley distance relay at the Ohio Relays Carnival, were meritorious of the consideration accorded it.

What is generally conceded to have been the best freshman team in the history was that of the same season, the plebes having won the "Little Four" title by winning their two meets, one from the University of Pittsburgh frosh and the other from the Carnegie Tech yearlings. In these two meets they amassed a total of 174 2/3 points to 77 1/3.

Despite the loss of two of the best distance runners ever to wear the Gold and Blue, Captain John Stender and Ralph Buvinger, it was generally considered at the close of last season that the veteran nucleus would provide another strong team—one possibly stronger than that of 1928. Injuries and ineligibilities, however, "jinxed" Coach Art Smith's squad and several of those persons counted as "pivot points" were missing when the 1929 season got under way.

The first serious blow was the loss of Albert ("Big Sleepy") Glenn, who became ineligible when he assumed the coaching duties as tutor of freshmen in the 1929 basketball campaign, thus removing the only experienced high jumper, a first-class hurdler and a good javelin thrower. Then came the loss of Marcus Brand, sophomore distance runner who was counted upon as the one person to fill the gap left by Captain Stender. Brand developed an attack of appendicitis during the indoor track season and was forced to undergo an operation, thus removing him from outdoor activities in the early part of the campaign.

Most serious of all blows came in the opening dual meet when Vental Waggoner, sophomore sprinter and jumper, was injured and rendered unfit for the season.

As a consequence of these important "removals" and other subsequent injuries, the Varsity ranks were depleted as the season got into full swing.

WEST VIRGINIA SPRINT RELAY TEAM

Review of Indoor Track Season

The building of the Men's Field House for a place to hold indoor sports facilitated Indoor track, a sport never before sponsored by this University. Coach Art Smith found this spacious building an ideal place to groom his cinder artists during the winter months.

The first indoor track meet ever to be held here was on February 23 with Ohio State as our opponents. The fully experienced Ohio lads proved too much for the Smith-coached proteges and they easily won by the score of 70½ to 25½. The sprint relay team proved to be one of the strongest links in the squad winning easily from their competitors.

The second meet was held on March 2 with Pitt as an opponent. West Virginia's speed merchants showed rapid improvement over their previous form and surprised their supporters by trouncing Pitt 56 to 40. Bowen proved to be the outstanding performer of the meet, scoring with Utterback a great number of points for the opponents.

The First Annual Indoor Games was then held. Several teams were represented, including performers from some of the leading colleges in the Northeast. Many outstanding stars and intercollegiate champions competed. No team scores were kept, individual action being the criterion. West Virginia's sprint relay team walked away from all opposition again winning easily from the entire field.

Summary of Season

For the first time in the history of West Virginia University, inter-Collegiate Boxing was introduced in the regular routine of Winter sports. Eddie Vacheresse, gridiron hero and diamond artist, was selected to coach the many aspirants and proved himself to be more than capable of filling the bill. Soon after practice began it was found that included in the roster were two very capable performers, Harry Stunkard and Krebs. Both were accomplished boxers and proved a nucleus around which Coach Vacheresse built his team.

Due to the fact that no preliminary schedule had been made previous to the introduction of the sport only one bout was fought, and that was with Penn State's veteran mit team. The bout was staged at State College, Pa. before one of the largest crowds ever to witness such an encounter in that city. Stunkard and Krebs both won their bouts in over-time periods, but the main feature of the bout was the fight that Bob Latham, W. V. U. 160 pounder, put up against Captain Allie Wolf, Penn State's intercollegiate champion. Latham won the first round, but a blow to the body in the second weakened him and the referee stopped the fight and awarded a technical knockout to Wolf.

In the 115 pound class Parks of Penn State won over Marsh of West Virginia. In the 125 pound class Epstein of Penn State won over Hamilton, the bout being very close as was the previous one. In the 135 pound class Stunkard took the aggressive with the opening of the bell but at the end of three rounds of fighting the referee ruled it a draw and sent the two men into an extra round, Stunkard winning by a comfortable margin. In the 145 pound division Krebs was forced to go into the fourth round to win over his opponent although the spectators seemed to think hat the West Virginian had won as did the Penn State opponent, Davis, who rushed over at the end of the third round to congratulate him.

In the 175 pound class McAndrews secured a decision over Nick Latham of W. V. U., it however, being a very close decision. Owing to the fact that West Virginia was not represented in the heavyweight class the bout was forfeited to Penn State making the final score 5-2 in favor of their opponents.

1928 Baseball Review

Eleven victories and four defeats comprised the record established by the Varsity baseball team of 1928, a seasonal mark which surpasses the major portion of those of the past ten years.

A strong nucleus of veterans with the addition of three first-class sophomores to the Varsity ranks, in Russell ("Bus") LaRue, third baseman; Earl ("Cutie") Wolfe, catcher; and Charles Bruns, pitcher; provided a well-rounded team as the 1928 season opened, and five straight games were annexed before Clarksburg of the Middle-Atlantic league administered the first defeat. Then the Varsity took its trip through the mid-west, opening with a pair of defeats at the hands of Notre Dame sluggers, and closing with three decisive victories over a trio of strong teams representing Michigan State. Upon its return here a split of the Marshall College series of two games resulted, and then the closing victory over Greensburg of the Western Pennsylvania league.

"Bill" Harrick, veteran left fielder, who led the team in slugging, was elected to lead the 1929 team, and he opened the latter campaign auspiciously by again hitting over .450 per cent in the first half dozen games.

The 1928 season, however, proved in some respects, a distasteful one, for it marked the passing of two of the greatest fielders and hitters ever to don West Virginia uniforms, as well as two veteran hurlers of much value. George Hand, said to have been the best fielding outfielder ever produced here, and George ("Ducky") Phillips, captain and shortstop; John Harsanyi and Sammy Lopinsky, both pitchers were the outstanding men who were lost, along with Rinehart, a pitcher-outfielder who aided much in the successes of the latter part of the 1928 campaign.

All of these posts proved difficult to fill as the current season opened, and all were considered the weak spots of the team as the 1929 campaign was launched.

Intramurals

PROF. HARRY L. SAMUEL

Intramural Athletics for Men

AS AN integral part of the new Department of Physical Education, headed by Dr. Carl P. Schott, there has come to the University this year a Department of Intramural sports under the directorship of Professor Harry L. Samuel, a graduate of Michigan and Columbia. Professor Samuel comes to us from the University of Michigan where he has been a big factor in carrying on the most extensive and complete program of Intramurals which exists anywhere in the country. West Virginia Alumni can point with pride to the fact that the University is the first school in the East to employ a full time Director of Intramural Sports.

What are intramural sports? What does this word "intramural" mean? It is derived from the two Latin words "intra" meaning "within," and "muralisv" meaning "wall." Literally speaking the term Intramural Athletics means athletics "within the walls" of a particular school or institution. Intramural Athletics, thus provide us with our avenue of approach to an ideal we have long heard talked about but never fully realized, namely, "athletics for all."

Intramurals at West Virginia

The first activity of the Fall program just completed was Speedball, a game new to West Virginians. This game was first introduced at the University of Michigan as a substitute for football and soccer. The game retains all the features of soccer football and in addition has some of the best features of basketball and regulation football. The game was first introduced on the local campus thru the showing in Commencement Hall of a two-reel motion picture of an actual game and showed some of the fundamentals of the game in slow motion. A crowd of about four hundred witnessed the presentation of this film. Actual play got under way on October 8th and the game was received with unexpected enthusiasm, the boys taking to the game like ducks to water. A round robin tournament was conducted for the fraternities. Twenty-three out of twenty-five fraternities on the campus entered teams in this sport. They were divided into leagues, there being three five-team leagues and two four-team leagues. Each of these teams met every other team in its league and on the basis of games won and lost the following five teams came thru as winners of their respective leagues: Delta Tau Delta, Tau Kappa Epsilon, Tau Delta Theta, Phi Kappa Sigma and Phi Sigma Delta. These league winners were then bracketed and met in an elimination tournament to decide the inter-fraternity championship. Tau Kappa Epsilon and Phi Sigma Delta went into the finals and the former emerged as the inter-fraternity champion by virtue of its defeat of the latter on the old athletic field on Saturday afternoon, November 3rd. No one of these teams played less than three games and Tau Kappa Epsilon, the champion played in all seven games. There were 494 different men who took part in the games. Four games were played each afternoon and in all there were forty-eight games played between the fraternities.

Following the inter-fraternity speedball competition a tournament for non-fraternity teams was conducted. There were three such teams, the Sharpes, the Unknowns and the Stiff-Joints. Here 34 additional men took part and the Stifi-Joints were returned the winners. Next followed a tournament for the inter-class championship. There were eleven teams in this competition, playing a round robin in leagues and the Freshman A. A.'s, the Freshman Laws and the Junior A. B.'s won in their respective league championships. In the elmination series for the class championship the Junior A. B.'s came thru victorious after a hard battle with the Freshman A. B.'s, who forced the Juniors to play thru two overtime periods before bowing to defeat. The class leagues brought out 129 different participants.

Alumni may wonder where these games were played. Two fields were used, one located south of Chemistry Hall on a plot that had been laid out by the University gardener as a lawn. The other was laid out on the old Athletic Field behind Commencement Hall. Part of the field ran over on to the practice field of the Varsity football team but the project had the endorsement of Coach Rodgers and Direcor Stansbury and no inconvenience was experienced by either the Varsity or intramural players.

The regulation speedball field is the same size as a regulation football field. Both of these imprnvised fields were much too small to be adequate, the one near Chemistry Hall being 76 yards by 22 yards and the one on the old Athletic field being 80 yards by 40 yards.

At the same time that speedball was under way there was being conducted a Fall tennis tournament in both singles and doubles. In spite of the fact that not a single tennis court was available on the campus it was possible to complete play in the singles tournament by using five tennis courts in the city, the use of which were obtained thru personal appeal to the Morgantown Country Club, the Evansdale Tennis Club and a private family in Westover. Inclement weather forced the discontinuance of play in the doubles before they could be completed but the singles championship of the University was won by H. C. Levis '31, of Buffalo, N. Y., who defeated N. Ragland '30 of Beckley, W. Va., in a thrilling five set match. There were 68 men entered in the singles tournament and 26 pairs in the doubles.

In the mean time students had been training for the first Inter-fraternity and All-Campus Cross-Country races ever held at the University. Cross-Country running is a strenuous sport, especially when one has to climb the hills that extend upward in all directions from the site of the University. In order to be eligible to compete in either of these races each contestant was required to run over the course, which envered a distance of two and one-eighth miles, at least nine times before the day of the race and in addition in order to insure that he was in fit physical trim he was required to have his heart and lungs examined at the health service and present before noon on the day of the race a statement from Dr. Kessel that he was in fit shape to compete in this activity. Those men who had been playing speedball were permitted to substitute the playing of three games of speedball for three of the practice runs which meant that each man had run the course at the very least six times before taking part in the races.

Sixteen men representing seven fraternities faced the starter's gun on Thursday afternoon, November 22nd. Kappa Sigma fraternity by virtue of placing men in first, fifth and tenth positions won the race with the low point score of sixteen. In a Cross-Country race the lowest score wins, since each man to finish scores the same number of points for his team as the position in which he finished indicates. The scores of the first three men to finish for any one fraternity counted in the scoring. "Mickey" Brand '31, representing Kappa Sigma was the individual winner and his time for the two and one-eighth mile jaunt was 12 minutes and 21 seconds. It should be noted that all sixteen men to start in this race finished and none showed any evidence of being worn out, thus showing the importance of having men train for this kind of a contest.

Six men faced the starter on the following Tuesday, November 27th, in the All-Campus race held over the same course. This race was open to both fraternity and non-fraternity men. Charles E. Leiphart '31, of Wheeling was the winner of this event. His time for the course was considerably better than that made in the inter-fraternity race, being 12 minutes and 5 seconds, which at present is the record for the course. All six starters finished the run. The first three to finish will be given jerseys with their class numerals thereon.

Realizing that the Faculty needs recreative activity as well as the student body a faculty horseshoe pitching tournament was conducted this fall. Eighteen entered for the singles and sixteen were in the doubles. Inclement weather prevented either of these tournaments going thru to completion but all had an opportunity to get out at least once and enjoy the clear autumn air and the freedom from the routine of the classroom while indulging in a few rounds of "barnyard golf."

Had an Alumnus happened in at Commencement Hall on the evening of December 11th or 12th between seven and ten o'clock he would have been treated to a sight most pleasant to behold. Gathered here in the old gymnasium were more students than this room has ever before accommodated at one time. The occasion for this demonstration was the running of the first inter-fraternity wrestling tournament in the school's history. This was to be followed later by an All-Campus Wrestling Tournament which will be held shortly after the Christmas holidays are over.

With the basement of Commencement Hall jammed to the rafters with over 500 spectators and contestants the tournament got under way at 7 p. m. on Tuesday, December 11th. One hundred forty-nine men had "weighed in" the previous afternoon. Matches were conducted in all eight weights under National Intercollegiate rules. Steve Harrick, Varsity wrestling coach, assisted by members of the Varsity wrestling squad refereed the boats in commendable fashion. It was necessary to have two mats going at all times. All bouts were of five minutes duration unless terminated by a fall. During the first evening there were in all 104 bouts carried thru, fifty-two of them resulting in falls, thirty-five in time decisions while only seventeen bouts were defaulted. In most cases these defaults were occasioned by the fact that one or the other of the competitors could not compete because of an attack of the "flu" which had just begun to make its appearance on the Campus.

On the first evening the 175 lb. class and the unlimited class were carried thru to the semi-finals. On the second night beginning at 7 p. m., the "old gym" was again jammed to its capacity. Fifty-four bouts were spiritedly contested and some likely looking material was uncovered that should be an asset to Coach Harrick's Varsity wrestling squad. In the heavier weights it is interesting to note that many of Coach Rodgers' Varsity football men furnished some of the liveliest bouts of the evening. "Big Sleepy" Glenn, Clint Carrico, Nelson Lang, "Bus" Larue and G. Joseph, all of Varsity football fame were competing for laurels in the great Greek sport. "Big Sleepy" Glenn emerged as the winner in the 165 lb. class.

Team honors went to Sigma Phi Epsilon who scored a total of 25½ points, rolling up first places in the 115, 165, 175 and unlimited classes. Alpha Gamma Rho trailed in second place with 11 points, followed by Tau Kappa Epsilon with 9 points. The next teams in order were Beta Theta Pi and Kappa Alpha tied for fourth with 8 points each. Kappa Sigma and Phi Delta Theta tied for fifth with 7 points each. Phi Sigma Delta was in eighth position with 6 points, Pi Lambda Phi was in ninth position with 1½ points and Pi Kappa Alpha was tenth with 1 joint. In all there were 129 different men who actually competed in the tournament and a total of 158 bouts were contested during the two evenings. There should be even greater numbers taking part in the All-Campus tournament yet to come and it is possible that it may be necessary to run the tournament over three days.

The Winter Program

The Winter Program was staged in the new men's Field House. Something was going on every evening between the hours of 7 and 10 on Mondays thru to Thursday, excepting on evenings when some Varsity Basketball contest was being staged.

There were 25 fraternity basketball teams, 10 class teams and 6 non-fraternity teams. Each of these teams played every other team in its league and then the league winners met in a series to decide the championship. Kappa Sigma won the fraternity basketball title by virtue of its victory over Kappa Mu in the final game. The Sophomores were returned the winners in the class leagues and the Scoreless Wanderers won the non-fraternity championship.

Two track meets were conducted in the Field House, one an all-fraternity affair and the other an all-campus event. Phi Sigma Kappa won the fraternity title, while each man to score 5 or more points in the all-campus meet was given a handsome gold medal.

The bowling tournament for fraternities was conducted on one of the local commercial alleys. It turned out to be a huge success and in another year it is planned to conduct this activity for class and non-fraternity men. Kappa Sigma was returned the victor in this competition.

As a wind-up to the winter program of intramural sports there was held in the Field House on Saturday evening, March 16th the first annual athletic carnival in the history of Intramural Sports at West Virginia. The final game for the fraternity basketball title was played as well as the final bouts for the University Boxing Championships in six weights. A couple of novelty events kept the crowd in good humor. The Varsity sport captains staged a Kiddie Kar race and the spectators were treated to a rare sight when "Little Sleepy" Glenn, "Les" Montgomery, "Jimmie" Cox, and Truehart Taylor mounted their trusty Kars to break all records for speed. Two picked male quartets of runners represented Chi Omega and Kappa Kappa Gamma and competed against each other for inter-sorority relay championship. These two teams reached the finals by virtue of having made the best times in the trials held during the week preceding the carnival.

Honoraries

Tau Beta Pi

Honorary Engineering Society

Tau Beta Pi was founded at Lehigh University in 1855. It is the oldest and most representative of the Honorary Engineering Societies and is the only one at West Virginia University. Its purpose is to mark in a fitting manner those who have conferred honor upon their Alma Mater by distinguished scholarship and exemplary character as undergraduates, or by their attainments as alumni. Distinguished scholarship is not considered the sole criterion although it is the primary requisite for admission.

Alpha chapter of West Virginia was formed from the local Theta Psi and was installed in 1922.

MUDDY

Four Thoughts

"The MONTICOLA has never been in the habit of apoligizing for anything and no where in its entire history can evidence of an apologetic attitude be found. But this year, we must tearfully admit, our MUDDYCOLA SECTION is a terrible failure,—a deplorable printer's error,—a catastrophe. So it is with the deepest concern that we offer our most sincere apologies to the school, the faculty, and the unfortunates harbored within the walls of this institution. (First thought: by J. M. Moore, Business Manager.)

"The Jokes are ill-timed, ill-considered, ill-natured, and ill-bred." (Second thought by Art Smith, Trackless Coach) "and the profanity is unbearable!" (Same).

"I disclaim all responsibility for this non-literary appendage to what otherwise might have been a worth-while book. It seems to me that it is offspring of moronic minds that somehow found a place on the staff. So I advise you to skip over the humor and read only the ads that made this book possible. And I assure you that the culprits responsible for this mental relapse will be apprehended and punished by the joint action of the business manager and the Freshman Class." (Third thought by PRESIDENT TURNER.)

"In happiest lives some gloom must fall, and we beg tolerance. Human frailty will always be with us, and as Napoleon said to Caesar on the Eve of aWterloo: 'The proof of the pudding is in the eating!' (And he would have said more if Cleopatra had not interrupted.) (Fourth thought not claimed by anone, ANONYMOUS.)

In Memoriam

In memory of those dear departed fellow-sufferers, who were unable to weather the storm of lectures and quizzes, let us bow our heads in solemn prayer. For brief though their sojourn was, they disported themselves gallantly and lit Murads, while all around them their beloved fellow students succumbed to pneumonia from prolonged exposure to drafty lectures, or went color-blind by watching yellow paper. The sin of their departure rests upon the malevolent souls hired by the state to prevent their passage through this great institution of yearning (to get out).

The more so let us pray for they suffered heartaches, sorrows, and laborious application to nonenttiies, (and no more shall their smiling faces grace the portals of our institution), and though deprived of a degree by a wretched unreasonable faculty, they are waiting beyond the hills to join hands with us and share our happiness in escaping lurking dangers of college life. May we too, Oh Lord, some day escape the smirking professorial faces, and leave them far behind us. AMEN!

OUR IDEA OF PUNISHMENT IN AFTER LIFE FOR PROFESSORS AND DEANS IS:

1st. To appear before an examining board of black-hearted devils for admittance to Hell.

2nd. To be put in charge of a satanic demon, who shall force them to carry 120 hours of work each week, and to write 50,000 word term papers every week-end, on the composition, elements, principles, wherefores, and whys of fire and brimstone.

3rd. To flunk out of Hell at least twice a year, and beg for re-admittance. Then to be compelled to carry 5698 reams of yellow paper up and down an endless stairway for the rest of eternity.

4th. If they survive, to be given the following exam:

A. List all the oceans, seas, lakes, rivers, lagoons, creeks, babbling brooks, rivulets, springs, and damp places on the earth's surface.

B. Write four thousand original jokes and tell why they are funny!

C. Give in detail the elements that go to make perfect beer and support your assertions.

D. Make a list of all the students that you have flunked, (No more than five sheets to be furnished on this question) and make humble apologies.

E. Tell in detail just why the Athenaeum is a good-for-nothing, downright, rotten publication, and don't be afraid to exaggerate.

F. Explain why the Monticola is the best, finest, most perfect University publication, (and watch your step!)

G. If a golf ball rebounds 8 feet when it hits a battleship, after a 90 pound drive by a man weighing 300 pounds, with a caddy weighing 89 pounds looking on, how far should it rebound when it hits a freshman's head when being driven by a stroke of lightning, emanating from a clear sky? (Answer must be within .0098 percent correct.)

H. Are the Monticola beauties really that way or is it the photography. (If wrong answer is given on this question, there is no hope of passing the test.)

THERE IS NO CHOICE OF QUESTIONS, and no extra time will be given. If the test is not passed the victims are to be pitched back in Hell, and condemned to everlasting lecturing on their respective subjects, WITH NO AUDIENCES WHATSOEVER.

COACH RODGERS

My youth was spent in solemn study of the Hindu classics, but owing to bad eyesight I was forced to give up my Sanskrit research. My mother had not warned me of the lurking evils in football, so one day, while witnessing a Harvard-Yale match a devilish maiden captivated me, and soon I was a victim of her cleopatric wiles. The sight of her black raven hair waving in the breeze, her oriental eyes, and her piquant smile aggravated my infatuation and made me her slave.

But she would not have me, for she liked only football heroes. So secretly, without breathing a word to a soul, I studied football in the attic every evening until the wee small hours of the morning. Needless to say I made good in football, and at the moment of my triumph I looked into the bleachers, and what did I see, Oh merciful Socrates? She was in the arms of another!

I could not wait. I made the touchdown, and running up the bleachers I seized my stilletto and shot the wretch, shot him dead. I fired, and fired, and fired until the gun was empty. Then I said to her: "Oh diabolical woman, you have crushed my flowery hopes."

I escaped to Chinatown, and for days lived on nothing but rice. Under the kind care of a Chinese cook, I gained a little weight and grew a moustache. Thus I escaped the sleuths. Then I settled down with my old feeble grandmother in a cozy cottage, and assumed the innocent pastimes of knitting and chewing tobacco.

My advice to Freshmen, who aspire to be football heroes, is: If you are unprepared for the problems of life by an inadequate knowledge of the secrets of life, don't come out for football until you have a course in zoology.

AUTOBIOGRAPHY

James Morton Callahan. (Copyrighted, 1931)

When I reached the age of 30, I was a burly, frisky boy, innocent of the real secrets of life. My ambition was to be a piano mover but alas in spite of my buoyant spirits the task proved too much for me. My Aunt insisted that I go to college. I ran away and for a decade became very successful posing for Arrow Collar Ads.

My family desicovered me, and I had to return home. I went to college but could not get along with the deans. After flunking out of each college successively, I entered the engineering school where I found an amiable dean.

My graduation was a solemn occasion. By a clerical error, I was given a Ph. D. instead of a B. S. C. E. but I did not say anything. I then enlisted in the state militia, and after a drunken brawl with the general I resigned.

I then had to be content with a professorial job. When coeds were admitted to the institution, I fell a victim to their wiles and was expelled from the college faculty. How I regret this incident, my mother had never told me. Soon I was hopelessly enmeshed in marital difficulties, for they all wanted to marry me. An attempt to espouse the Mormon religion was frustrated by Abraham Lincoln, so I eloped to Siberia with my beloved.

We raised chickens together in a pastoral cottage on the glaciers of Muskomoomo. My happiness was cut short by a telegram from W. V. U. asking me to accept the deanship of the A. B. school. So I left my sweetie in Siberia for the call of duty. She promised to wait, and I know that even now she is thinking of me in the little Eskimo teepees.

I am going back some day. And as my parting advice to Freshmen, let me say that diligence coupled with assiduous application to industry is essential to success.

Campus Types

The Newlyweds

You see them everywhere. They court in the classroom, they court on the library steps, they court in the registrar's office. A wink, a smile, a gesture—and off to the Parson's home. High blond pressure has become the disease of the day. No man is safe; no woman, immune. It is a campus epidemic.

They rent a cozy cottage, buy a rose bush, call up the milk man, and settle down to help each other get an education.

They walk like king and queen, while sighing maidens and envious bachelors look on and lament their fate. In blissful isolation, they become gentilely unconscious of their former pals, who now become but atmosphere to them.

It's "Good morning, Mrs." and "How do you do, Mr.", where formerly it was "Hy, Mary!" and "Ho, Jake!" "How's the wife today?" has replaced, "Gotcha lesson today?"

Get married, 'cause if you don't, you'll be sorry some day. A young lady is like a promissory note. She becomes settled when she arrives at maturity. You can never find out the mettle of a belle until you give her a ring.

The Fisherman.

Our latest type. He has the greatest line and can fling it with the most graceful accuracy, and he always pulls in a fish. He spends the morning reading Izzac Walton's "Fish and Why they Bite," and the rest of the day, he talks of Juries and Einstein's latest theory. With a long studious face, he foils them all into thinking he is an intellectual marvel, and a social phenomenon. Everyone beems with admiration, when he opens the meeting thus: "We meet in congress assembled to perpetuate that infinite immutable doctrine of human fallibility, promulgated in the alleged compunctious epistles just vocalized." Then he gets a vote of confidence, and in solemn tones he calls. "God bless us, every one."

Ruth treated Boaz very badly, he will tell you, for she pulled his ears and trod on his corn. And he stoutly declaims that a deaf man cannot be legally convicted, because it is not legal to condemn a man without a hearing. And where do you suppose he was going when he was in his nineteenth year? Into his twentieth. Like all lawyers, he is an uneasy sleeper. He lies on one side, then on the other, and remains wide awake all the time.

Poor work: Rewrite!

Will Rogers Says:

(Special from BILL ROGERS, to the MUDDYCOLA. Copyrighted 1929)

"Well, all I know is what I read in the Athenaeum and what I see in the Muddycola. Darn good book you're publishing there. Couldn't do better myself.

I like the pictures of your campus, but would suggest a few improvements. The uncultured aspect can be remedied by placing a little statuary here and there. A statue of Euripedes chasing the doe would go nice in front of Woodburn Hall, and Aphrodite playing checkers with Mercury would be a knock-out for the front of the Field-house. And you seem to be lacking in organizations on your campus. I would suggest more societies, clubs, etc.

I went to college, too. I never knew it until I sobered up and found a diploma in my hand. Confronted with the alternative of choosing between Phi Beta Kappa and Fi Bater Capper, I chose the latter, because it was an older institution, founded by Socrates they say. That's being pretty old, even older than the liquor they drink.

Yes, siree, I'm a college man, but I only boast about it to college students. My political career would be ruined if the politicians found out about it. That's why I use good grammar in my write-ups,—to make them think I never went to college.

We had beauty contests, too. You people ought be ashamed to call those things you hold, beauty contests. That photographer ought to be shot, or better still, sent to Congress to take hazy, esthetic portraits of our Senators, and send them to Hollywood Casting Bureaus. At any rate, his activities are a crime and high misdemeanor under the Act for the Punishment of False, and Misleading Misrepresentations, of 1908.

I am sorry to see you don't have the honor system there. The school where I went had it for 50 years, then some darned sneak went and squealed and ruined everything.

I like the pictures of your R. O. T. C. corps. They look like half-starved Armenians suffering under the yoke of the terrible Turks. I presume the service is compulsory in your school. To see the faces of those cadets standing in ranks is to see what the face of Nebuzube looked like after 98 years imprisonment. However, it's good stuff for the boys, keeps them out of mischief, and all that.

I have restrained myself considerably in this letter. I hate to criticize your school, after your sending me such a nice copy of the yearbook. I intend to visit over your way someday.

Signed: BILL ROGERS.

(Editor's Note: A bill has just been mailed to Mr Rogers for the said Muddycola copy. His answer will be published in next year's Agriculturist.)

Serving Every Student Activity

University life is neither all study nor all play. It is a happy combination of both.

It is our pleasure to render the public service necessary for both activities. When you watched winter sports it was beneath electric illumination. When you studied late into the night electric light assisted you. When you traveled out of town or in the city it may have been on Monongahela Transport buses. When you needed heat during the winter, natural gas provided it.

It has been our privilege to serve West Virginia University students for several years. May it continue to be our pleasure in the years to come.

Dr. Karr

DR. KARR, World Famous Mystic, answers student queries through the Monticola:
(The Monticola is glad to be of service to the students, and can only regret that a few letters had to be omitted because of lack of space.)

OOGIE MEISEL:
Yes, the girl you wish to marry has a wooden leg. That explains the squeaking you thought you heard when she sat down. However, a good lubricating oil will remedy the condition and I see no reason why she should not make a good wife. No, you are not fat!

Dr. Karr.

JAMES MORTON CALLAHAN:
Lumbago can be due to various causes. Correct your diet and cut down on whiskey, Lucky Strikes, and wild parties. If ailment persists see a reliable osteopath.

Dr. Karr.

GEORGE JACKSON:
A. B. after a name can stand for many things. It may mean A BOOB, or ANOTHER BUM, or AGRONOMICAL BIBLIOGRAPHER. More often, however, it means ALSO BROKE. Does that answer your question?

Dr. Karr.

JAMES COX:
For your sprained ankle I would advise Sloans's Liniment taken INTERNALLY, or Boswell's Bruise Balm also EXTERNALLY. No, I don't think you would succeed in the movies!

Dr. Karr.

MARY JO MATTHEWS:
Yes, you do resemble Clara Bow, but I think you have a stronger resemblance to Colleen Moore. A pea-green wire haired terrier would match your complexion fine. You left your wrist watch on the third table on the left in Comuntzis, Friday, May 15, 3:00 A. M.

Dr. Karr.

SCOTT LOWE:
Yes I think it is advisable to marry young. The person who told you that necking is detrimental to the health was apparently deceiving you. Authorities have found no evil consequences unless complications set in. Your indigestion was due to mixing listerine with Jumbo Peanuts.

Dr. Karr.

HARRISON CONAWAY:
You are president of the student body. FOR TRYING TO DECEIVE ME, by telling me you were a shoe polish salesman, I refuse to answer your question.

Dr. Karr.

SLEEPY GLENN:
Your question is of a personal nature. I advise you to send a stamped self-addressed envelope and repeat your question.

Dr. Karr.

DEAN STONE:
You are not fat, it is called pleasingly plump. Yes, you are a Hollywood type, and would succeed admirably in western movies playing two gun parts. I do not advise you to part your hair in the middle. Clara Bow prefers it on the left side.

Dr. Karr.

FRANK BUTLER TROTTER:
Ah, ha, you rascal. I know you are no longer president. Eskimo pies are not harmful unless eaten in excess. Yes, Wrigley's chewing gum is safe.

Dr. Karr.

HARRY ADAMS STANSBURY:
Your financial worries will be settled in a few years, and a big donation is forthcoming from a tall dark man. No, the stadium is not too large, but the quality of cement is poor. You are popular with the students, and don't let your enemies worry you. You will outlive them.

HIGHWAY TAX COSTS

By JOHN E. WALKER

Former Special Assistant on Taxation to the Secretary of the Treasury

KEY FACTS

Railroads pay less than 2½ per cent of total highway income.

Six-tenths of rail taxes for highways are for local feeder roads.

Special motor vehicle taxes are more than equivalent to all highway maintenance costs, state and local.

Special motor vehicle taxes pay for 35 per cent of the entire highway bill of $1,500,000,000.

Less than twelve cents out of each state and local general tax dollar goes to highways.

Motor trucks pay twice as much in special taxes per vehicle as private automobiles.

Common carrier buses pay twenty-four times as much in special taxes as the private automobile.

State authorities expend 47 per cent of the total highway funds, counties expend 53 per cent.

Maintenance expenditures are increasing in proportion to construction costs due to growing mileage of improved roads.

CAPTAIN TOURTILLOTT:

It was Sherman who said ARMY LIFE IS HELL. Although there is some evidence that Shakespeare had a similar sympathy when he wrote King Lear, putting in the mouth of the Swiss Guards the famous words:

"Anon, vassals, back to the kitchen for the navy is a place for knaves, and the army is a living HADES." However, the idea can be traced to the Sanskrit legends, which have not yet been translated into English.

Dr. Karr.

MAX DE BERRY:

Yes, you are a great actor. But the girl who said your profile was a John Barrymore must have been mistaken, or teasing you, or what is worse, outwardly deceiving you. I advise you to specialize in post anti-Mid-Victorian Drama.

TESTIMONIALS:

Cunningham: I find complete solace and comfort in reading Greek philosophy on bills of fare.

Kay: Public speaking teaches one how to speak in public.

Reese: I advise all girls who intend to marry to take Arthropology. It is the study of insects.

Darby: I advise all students who don't like French to take Spanish for their group requirement.

Arnold: The study of law is the study of human vacuity as exemplified by the lawyer class.

(Editor's Note: Vacuity is not in the Dictionary. Ask Arnold.)

Minutes of Fraternity Meetings

KAPPA KAPPA GAMMA

Sufficient sisters simply assemble to afford an affirmative affair. Sister Stahlman rises (as does also the sun) to move a vote of thanks to Sister Matthews for being born, otherwise Kappa advertsing would not be so obvious. Sister Higginbotham moves that Sister Matthews' key to the city of Winchester and scepter of power be sent to the Smithsonian Institute and that a Kappa room be reserved at that institution, each member of the Kappa chapter being expected to contribute a suitable souvenir. Sister Highland promises a photograph of "me and Sarah Bernhardt". Sufficient souvenirs being assiduously assembled, the society discusses other matters. Sister Arnold inquires how far up the Hill, Kappa politics will go. Sister Preston suggests all the way to the top. "We won't have to walk home." Argument follows as to relative merits of roller skates, or scooters, and the meeting falls apart.

PI BETA PHI

The meeting is called to order and comes once in a while. Sister Hicks rises to inquire if brother-in-laws Glenn and Bottome did right by our Nell. They assure the sorority vigorously that they did. Sister Manasse moves that such being the case, the cook should have her vacation and the married sisters display their culinary art, so that the health of the said brothers-in-law will be assured. Sister Ayers moves that the clause, "we do not extract promises" be added to By-law 12, Section 16. Sister Brown seconds the motion "because we can't have it said again." Sister Hall moves that a new item be added to the budget—five gallons of peroxide of superior quality, for the benefit of Sister Douglas, for it is understood that gentlemen (not W. Va. Eds) prefer blondes. Sister La Lance moves that she be nominated for the beauty contest for she is in pretty good shape for it.

ALPHA XI DELTA

Sister Dunn calls the members together, according to an old Japanese custom. Under head of unfinished business, Sister Hinkle moves that a new set of tires be bought for the members of the sorority. Sister Carney rises to add to the motion a new stop watch. Sister Scory requests that Sister Squires be urged to sing the "Lovalierre" from Woolworth, over the radio, and Sister Squires feeling that Sister Scory handed too much of a mean crack, urges the sisters to request Sister Scory to get expression in her blue eyes besides "I believe you." Sister Squires loses a curl, and the meeting adjourns.

PHI MU

The meeting is called to order, as it were. Sister Taylor arrives late, forgets the password, and has to remain in outer darkness and on the sun porch. The session looks interesting, and she tears her hair. Sisters Shuttleworth and Hirst race to see who can second the motions and get their names in the Secretary's book. They sit near the door in case of fire, but there never is afire. Sister Kathleen Robertson, composer of that popular campus favorite "How to make one drink take the place of two," announces that she has sold exclusively to Al Maybe's Orchestra, her latest effort: "Phi Beta Kappa, I Love You."

ALPHA DELTA PI

The meeting is called to order and immediately adjourns for discussion. Sister Marshall moves that Sister Goodwar get Major Fletcher to bring the army at night in order to protect the house. Sister Woods requests Sister Hawley to give the chapter a discussion on good posture. Someone falls over a little love that has been lost. The dates come, the girls go, and the meeting is no more.

DELTA GAMMA

The meeting opens with the singing of "Why I Am Not a Kappa," followed by a prayer of thanksgiving that "I Am Not a Phi Mu." The president leads with an elevating discussion of "How I became what I am not, by one who never has been a Chi Omega." Business is then taken up during which Sister Jones is nominated for the captaincy of the Delta Gamma necking team. She is opposed by Sister Ballard. The latter is unanimously elected because her technique is more quiet.

CHI OMEGA

Owing to the presence of the Alumnae who came to see how their little charges were getting along, the chapter conducted a very serious meeting. Sister Dering nominated Sister Rachel Smith for Phi Beta Kappa. Sister Byrer gave a report from the Interfraternity council on the rules for Interfraternity Necking Tournament which is to be held soon . Sister Callahan moved that the rules concerning the use of the strangle hold be eliminated. One of the alumnae opened a discussion as to how many parking corners for parking should be permitted in one house and the meeting broke up in despair.

DELTA TAU DELTA

Brother Bottome calls the meeting to order to discuss funds for a new house. Brother Simpson is fined for drinking. Brother Bottome annonunces sufficient money now available. Brother Conaway asks that when the new house is finished if exploration of the corridor will yield enough to make a quorum. Brother Holland tells a slightly soiled joke. It is overruled.

PI KAPPA ALPHA

Meeting fails to assemble for some time. Brothers Arnett, Brewster, and Martin finally arrive in time and a majority are present. Brother Arnett moves an investigation of the Delta Gamma's since Brother Hill has forsaken their precincts. Brother Martin reports but five quarts left in the jug. A unanimous motion to adjourn to Brother M's room is carried out without dissenting vote.

PHI DELTA THETA

Brother Evans moves the gavel out to the lawn since he cannot get a majority inside. Brother Cox wrestles with the problem of the future of the fraternity when he is gone. Brother Harrington suggests a room be set aside for the lug shoes of former Brother Thompson and Brother Cox. An insignificant brother suggests that Brother Ratcliffe's hat be added to the collection.

PHI KAPPA SIGMA

Meeting is arranged by private conference with members in their rooms. Brother Johnson attempts to make it a bull session, but the motion of Brother Bias is adopted: "Tonight—an all night party all over town." Brother Reynolds is sent to trace Brother Bias' footsteps from the Pan-Hellenic for a Monticola cover design.

DELTA EPSILON

Brother Fox takes the burden of running the frat on his manly shoulders and in a tired voice sought to call a meeting. However Brother Bradley was at one of the sorority houses playing "eyes" and learning how to spell Phi Kappa Phi, and Brother Musgrave was writing a treatise on "How to be elected on the social committee." Result, no meeting.

A SPECIAL ALPHA GAMMA RHO

The meeting opened in the Ag. School with Bro. Robinson throwing the bull. Bro. Pinney was appointed to analyze Bro. Maines mental reactions to the election. Bro. Pinney declined the dirty job. The "bull" having been generously distributed, Bro. Seibert suggested a little "stud poker", thereby bringing the meeting to an abrupt end.

TAU KAPPA EPSILON

An informal stag party was thrown to get the frat lads together, whereupon to the dismay of Bro. Bowers, a meeting was called to order and he was prohibited from associating with his wife. Bro. Reinhart proposed a toboggan slide run into the center of the campus. Bro. Cooper moved adjournment before examinations began. It was so ordered.

PHI KAPPA PSI

A prep was sent to the Kappa house to fetch Bro. Warren. As soon as Bro. Prown arrived with the new pink garters from Fredlock's, the meeting opened in the usual manner with Bro. Taylor absent. Bro. Phillips declared the organization could not have made a better choice for presidential candidate than himself. Bro. Jackson gained the floor for a few comments on the qualities of Bro. P. for president, why he, Bro. J. was never elected president and the election of 1904, when he was a Freshman, was conducted. Bro. Jackson still talking.

SIGMA NU

A meeting was contrived by Bro. Cowden's superior brain and believed to be an unprecedented event. Bro. Amos wobbled in a little late. Bro. Landon moved to instruct the preps on how to use the Sigma Nu brand. No further business being in order, Bro. Edmondson adjourned to the Kappa House to study law.

THETA CHI

Contrary to all custom, a meeting was held on time. Bro. Ayers wiped the political slime from his fingers, and gave a report from the Interfraternity Council. Bro. Hesse suggested that Bro. Moler spend a few nights in the house instead of wandering all over town. Bro. Marsh gave this suggestion his moral support. Bro. Krieger moved that a new house be built. Moore seconds the motion and the meeting is adjourned, till Bro. Montgomery makes a track man out of his first baby boy.

SIGMA PHI EPSILON

Notice of all candidates for sport managers to be at the house succeeded in raising a quorum. Bro. Steele solicited votes for the beauty contest and moved to have preps instructed that Mary Jo was not the prettiest girl on the campus. Bro. Brafford moved that Bro. M. Glenn in the art of married life is a success inasmuch as a Sig Ep should not be a failure no matter what he was managing. Meeting broke up abruptly.

PHI ALPHA

Bro. Abramson added up the cost of a dance and banquet. Bro. Abramson is still figuring on how to get bread for $.03 a loaf. Due to Bro. Abramson still figuring, no meeting was held.

PHI SIGMA DELTA

The meeting was opened by a silent prayer. Brother Katz makes a speech on the value of modesty, but nevertheless wishes that more attention be paid to the grades he is making in law school. Upon complaint of the governing body, Brother Bohes assures the brothers that he will use all the influence that he has to reduce the price of the Athenaeum from $.03 to $.02. Brother Szanger breaks his Sphynx-like silence by announcing the fraternity standing in Intra-Mural Spors. Brother Cooper loses control of himself and breaks the table with his fist, although he could hardly reach it. Brother Basman moves the elimination of beans from the daily menus. Brother Polan is moved when adjournment is effected.

MEN-NON-FRAT-POLITICAL MEETING

Clair Smith calls the meeting in the usual way: to-wit: notice in the Athenaeum. George Lucas announces that he is present. Smith declares that he will not be able to run for president. F. L. Bates Butler dramatically assures the audience that he is available. Simmons states that he has pocketed the non-fraternity vote but that the report that he has been pledged Phi Kap is misleading. Lincoln is thrown out on his ear when he attempts to take a collection Smith dismisses the meeting after calling attention to the fact that there will be an election. Everyone to go out to seek votes for himself.

SIGMA CHI

Meeting was called to order amid the hub-bub of the campus politicians on the front porch. Bro. Zevely moved that the Sigma Chi Fraternity vote for him in the presidential Bro. Wildt objected until he paid the $.25 that he owed him since 1925. Bro. Hartly staggered to his feet and suggested that Bro. Wildt's graft from the dance be used to purchase votes for Bro. Zevely. Bro. Littlepage brought the meeting to a close with a wisecrack from which there was no comeback.

PHI SIGMA KAPPA

Session called to order in Stadium Hall. Bro. Ryan is carried in and laid upon a lounge, by Bro. Brill who looked like a blacksmith with a pair of horseshoes in his hands. Bro. Bird states that there is no Payne about him this year. Meeting is adjourned in favor of a Whoopee Party at the New Chalfonte, to which Bro. Ryan and his bottle gurgle assented.

KAPPA ALPHA

The meeting set for Tuesday finally opens on Wednesday when Bro. Ayers has finished telling the press about his medals. Bro. Hardy requests that the girls should be allowed to attend the sessions in order that he may shine along with Bro. Ayers. Bro. Meisel suggests adjournment in order to mourn the passing of Bro. Wiles, who has these 5 years associated to his great detriment with John Barleycorn. Bro. Hagberg moves his P. B. K. pin in approval.

KAPPA SIGMA

Bro. Hall started tossing a ball against the chinaware and soon there were enough gladiators assembled to hold the usual bull fight. Bro. Hague arrived in course of time with a new story on his mind and the campus election in his pocket. Bro. Stumpp sought some publicity for his pull. Bro. Lang thought his mole should also be given consideration by the Athenaeum. Bro. Larue ended the torture session by hinting at a marble contest at Pittsburgh and was crushed in the rush of the dear brothers to root for Ross.

KAPPA MU

An early morning meeting is called by Bro. Moore to discuss why Kappa Mu exists. Nobody is eager to tackle the problem and Brothers Erb and Neuberger move to excommunicate the subject. It is so ordered.

SIGMA DELTA PHI

The meeting opens as most meetings have a tendency of doing. Bro. Conklyn makes a speech. "No runs; no hits; no errors." Bro. Pike proposes publication of a pamphlet stating that there is a fraternity on the campus called Sigma Delta Phi. Everybody speaks individually on the subject, everybody seems to favor the motion so the meeting ends, to enable the members to get to their 8 o'clock classes.

PI LAMBDA PHI

Meeting comes to order very quickly. Bro. Porter, the chaplain, utters a prayer hoping for better luck against the Phi Sigs. Bro. Herskovitz swells up at the thought of being kept out of the Inter-Fraternity Council. Bro. Sclove admonishes Bro. Goldstein's action in putting the shot at the dinner table with Bro. Hexer's cherry, as cherries are few and high these days.

DELTA KAPPA PSI

Meeting opens amid the turmoil created by the recent visit of Dean Stone and several Phi Gams. Brothers recover their balances in Bro. Thornhill's room where things lying loose are apt to congregate. Bro. Randolph declares for the last time that he will be in school next year and can run for an office. The fraternity is over-jubilant and adjourns to celebrate.

TAU DELTA THETA

A few more men are pledged by leadpipe methods and soon there is enough for a quorum. Bro. Fahey instructs the boys in the art of self-advertising and agrees to be a candidate at large on the campus. Bro. Reed ends the delight with a dirty crack and brothers rush madly about South Park in the initiation of Bro. Fahey.

BETA THETA PI

The resounding smack of the president's lips brought the meeting to order. Bro. Hood congratulated himself on his good luck in becoming president of the Interfraternity Council. Various brothers reassured him that it was luck. Brother Ralston meekly stated that he would like to become Editor of the Athenaeum. Bro. Lewis lamented the existence of liquor at parties. The brothers being unable to concentrate on nothing but liquor, women, and Beta Theta Pi passed into oblivion amid the applause of the Hill fraternities.

PHI KAPPA TAU

Everybody was present, for Phi Kappa Tau was the new national fraternity here, and must be made the best. Brother Goard was urging the brothers to give him an office. Bro. Coulter prepared an assault upon the Inter-Fraternity Council. Bro. Kach dissipated everywhere. Meeting adjourned amid the great applause and congratulations on everybody's success in "no longer feeling like a local."
